

June 25th was another sweltering day in the desert, but the 109 degree heat didn't keep riders and spectators from enjoying the Arizona Wakeboard Association's third stop in its rider's series. Mastercraft Boats of Arizona and the Valley Ride Shop teamed up to put on another incredible AWA event. Riders in the women, advanced and outlaw divisions were treated to a sick, waist high wake from the X-Star. While the grom, novice, and intermediate riders had only a slightly less intimidating, but equally awesome, X-10 wake to show off their moves.

The action on the water was as hot as the temperature on the beach. This event brought upsets in every division and a new round of first place winners. Jimmy Wolf gave AWA riders and spectators a glimpse of the pro-tour with his first place outlaw finish. Nick Wittl stepped it up and secured his first top finish in the advanced division. The battle for Arizona State Champion in the Grom division heated up when Kevin Cutaia nabbed first place. Intermediate rider, Danny Cain and novice rider, Austin Randall also gave great performances to secure their first, first place wins. Brittney Arruda set the bar high for all women riders for the rest of the year. Brittney became the first woman in AWA to history to land a tantrum in competition! Mastercraft Boats of Arizona and the Valley Ride Shop hooked all the winners up with some great gift certificates for their shops. In addition to those prizes, Valley Ride Shop also provided all the winners with t-shirts. Congratulations to the top three winners from every division!

AWA riders have caught the double up fever, and Mastercraft Boats of Arizona and the Valley Ride Shop turned up the heat and challenged the King of the Double Up. Fourteen outlaw and advanced riders competed for over $300 in prize money. Local pro-rider, Jimmy Wolf, threw a huge slob off-axis 5 off the double up to claim the first place cash. Larry Taylor (2nd) and Travis Rowe (3rd) landed a indy glide and a 911 respectively to round out the top 3 and finish in the money.

Keep your eyes posted for information regarding the July 23rd event. Sky Supreme Boats, Mako Industries and The Board Shack are ready to rock Two Cow Cove for the last time this season!
